After prayer by the Rev. A. E. Kittridge, Secretary Keogh read the call for the Convention. Mr. Cameron then asked the attention of the Convention, saying that during the canvass there had been manifested in many sections of the country, considerable bitterness which, he trusted, would entirely disappear before entering upon the grave duties devolving upon them; that when the nominations were made and the Convention had completed its work, let there be but one sentiment in animating all earnest, sincere Republicans and let that be that each shall vie with the other in carrying the party through the coming contest to victory. In accordance with the instructions of the National Committee he then placed in nomination as temporary Chairman the Hon. George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts. The nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Hoar, on being conducted to the chair by the committee, Governor Davis, of Texas, Hon. William P. Frye, of Maine, and Hon. Greeen B. Raum, was received with great applause. Mr. Hoar made a short speech, thanking the Convention for this distinguished mark of their confidence. More of these defective returns were Fusionist than Republican, but, owing to the way in the third than Republicans had gerry-mandered the State, the latter's mandered the State, the latter's bost more members of the Legislature by the Republicans had gerry-mandered the State, the latter shan the former, and the Fusionist there will be no Presidential steal this is sist were left in control of the State Government. How they were robbed of it by force and fraud, and how a paratism than det do do Blaine's dirtiest work and made to do Blaine's dirtiest work and the count of the sum of the expressed opinions of several of the Judges, will be remembered by our readers. How the Republicans got possession of the State Capitol is told for the first time in the ex-Governor's statement. General Chamberlain was guarding the State-House and the other property of the Commonwealth. On Friday, January 16, he called in Governor Lamson and asked that the Republicans be allowed the use of Representatives' Hall and the Senate Chamber for caucuses the following day. General Chamberlain gave his solemn pledge that the Capitol should be placed in the possession of the Fusionist Legislature for its session on the Monday following. General Folsom and Colonel Channing make oath that Chamberlain gave this pledge to the Governor. On Monday, when the legal Legislature met, the State-House was in the hands of the usurpers, its gates were locked, a Gatling gun stood at the entrance, and the building was guarded by soldiers who refused admission to the legal Legislature. This is Republican honor! This is Blaineism. And the two thousand dollars with which it was thought to bribe Fusionist Legislators to support the usurpation and prevent the organitation.

POLITICAL POINTS.

—It is said that Mr. Hayes wants to be elected President once, as George Eliot wanted to be really married, just to know how the thing actually seemed.

—The President has certainly shown no little consideration to the public by appointing "Erring Brother" Key to a Federal office in Tennessee, where he is likely to do very little harm.—N. Y. Express.

Sound and Patriotic Advice.

The issues are such as to stir the energies of every true patriot. The Republicans, corrupted by the long possession of power, intend to retain it at any cost. The check which they received in 1876 was as stunning as it was unexpected. But their leaders did not hesitate to resort to the novel and corrupt action of Returning Boards in order to defeat the will of the people. They have rewarded the authors and abettors of these frauds with positions of honor and profit. They even sit in the Cabinet and represent us at foreign Courts. Every means has been taken to gloss over the infamy of 1876 by the total station, and in order to secure its ratification by the people in 1880, they have sought—by legal persecutions and slanderous allegations. The word of the securious and slanderous allegations in 1880, they have sought—by legal persecutions and slanderous allegations in they have earned the scorn and convention the scorn and convention they have earned the scorn and convention to the convention that they have earned the scorn and convention that they have ea history. They are ready to prevent free elections by surrounding the polls with partisan Marshals, paid from the with partisan Marshals, paid from the public Treasury, by arbitrary arrests on the day of election, and by the use of the troops, in the last emergency, to overawe citizens in the exercise of the sacred right of suffrage. They have the control of an unlimited election fund in the power to levy assessments upon office-holders, who, under the pretense of civil service, are organized as a political force so dangerous and effective that unless the Democratic party shall act as one man, under a leader in whose statesmanship, honor, courage and patriotism it has full confidence, defeat appears to be inevitable. With defeat will come a new era in our history, when the will of the people can find no expression, and the power that is will determine
